Rebuilding Duvall 3-D Style

By Country Roney

Matthew Waddington is a 30-year Duvall resident, artist, architect and bee keeper that has been working on a project rebuilding Duvall circa 1905-1920 with 3D software. With today's technology it is really interesting and accurate. Matthew can trace the growth of the town, how it developed, where original buildings were, what's now gone, and what's still here. Accessing digitized Duvall Historical Society's files through the website has helped out. It is also imperative to use local resources and thanks goes out to Ken & Bob Kosters, Duane Davidson and railroad expert, Allen Miller.

He is still really puzzled about how the overpass worked, and is solving the mysteries, one resource at a time. Pioneer, Ralph Taylor (1903-1989) shows the overpass in one of his sketches and it appears in three photos. Here is the start of a CAD drawing, where Matthew traced the Sanborn plan of the mill and tracks and located them per those maps. They coincide perfectly with the wellhead at Taylor landing.

Matthew is working primarily on the bridge, the AP Manion block of stores, the Cherry Valley Mill, Forest Inn and Cherry Valley school # 4. He actually works for a living, but does this in his spare time. He spends weekends learning how to draw accurate gears for the mechanism of the objects he is digitizing. Some might call that boring, but he finds it fascinating. He's also using the opportunity to get better at some recent rendering software he uses for his regular job (drawing houses).

Thank you, Matthew, for your passion in preserving Duvall's history to a contemporary platform. Duvall Historical Society invites YOU, our readers, to share your personal interest/hobby/education to assist us in archiving today what can be used for our future generations. Please reach out to us at duvallhistoricalsociety@gmail.com. We will happily match you with a service opportunity. DHS is also registered with Benevity, Microsoft's giving service provider.

Thanks You!!!! 2021 Docents

Ever want to play Julie McCoy from the Love Boat (1977- 1987)? We have the job for you in 2022! Thanks to this year's docents (tour guides), we were able to reopen the 1888 Dougherty House to visitors. The 2020 museum shutdown gave our group the opportunity to redesign a few rooms and expand our displays. If you would like a private group tour, please reach out to us at Duvallhistoricalsociety@gmail.com. Otherwise, we will see you next season, May – September on Sundays from 1 – 4 pm.

KING COUNTY MUSEUMS ARE REOPENING

DHS Can Help You Support Duvall's History

- Support children: Volunteers are able to create & present programs in the classroom, fieldstrips and the Dougherty House, or on Zoom. "Trunk Talks" sharing items such as B&W photos, rotary telephone, adding machine, lunch box, etc. Items are endless. Teach your children about service thru DHS and invite them to participate in our events.
- Refurbish landmarks: Volunteers can upkeep the landscaping and outbuildings, keep the DH rooms orderly (always nice cleaning someone else's home), rotate themes in different rooms, build a theme for a future display, mow the Pioneer cemetery, reestablish era plantings.
- Shop our Publications and retired ornaments: DHS has 8 publications available for purchase. $10 each and can be locally delivered. DHS receives payment via check, Venmo, Zelle and credit card.
- Clean up the neighborhood: Organize a cleaning party that could include either the outside or inside of the Dougherty House. Pioneer cemetery needs maintenance and you'll always find a nice cobweb to remove inside the house. Keep the DH rooms orderly (always nice cleaning someone else's home).
- Community Events: Use your local resources (Chamber, Rotary, Duvall Foundation of the Arts, KCLS, church, Duvall Cultural Commission) to represent DHS and set up a booth at local gathers. This will help keep our community fun & vibrant.
- Financial Support: Your contributions help support outreach to the community. We are able to share history with Duvall via web services, Facebook, Instagram and Zoom. Archiving software allows input and uploading capabilities. Changing interpretive design in themes and concepts allows for additional stories to be communicated.
